a renowned centre for teaching and research. Olomouc is the capital of the region of Central Moravia and belongs to the oldest cities of the Czech Republic. The city dates back to the ninth century, when it was a power centre of the Great Moravian Kingdom, the oldest Slavonic state. Today Olomouc has above 100,000 inhabitants and its long history makes it one of the most beautiful cities of the Czech Republic.

The purposes of the conference are to:

- open a dialog between scholars of Asian art and archaeology and to offer a platform for the presentation and discussion of recent researches;
- highlight the significance of Asian art and archaeology researches;
- revise historical approaches that have been prevalent in the study and research of Asian art and archaeology;
- elaborate existing art theories and methodology;
- form new research approaches and methods in Asian art and archaeology.

The EAAA board invites papers on art and archeology of China, Japan, Korea, South and Central Asia, as well as papers on art theory and methodology. Scholars of Asian art and archaeology from Europe and beyond are invited to submit proposals for panels, round table discussions, and individual papers. Proposals (including the author's name, academic qualification, institutional affiliation, position, contact information – address, telephone number, e-mail, and a short abstract of no more than 250 words) should be sent to eaaa.conf.olomouc@gmail.com before November 15, 2013. Scholars who have submitted their proposals by this deadline will be notified of their inclusion in to the conference before February 28, 2014.
